A Very Educational World Café Round-Table Evening

By Viktorija Briggs, CHC
(All photos in this article are by Misty Jimerson)

Wednesday evening, June 14, a gathering of area people from different socio-economic backgrounds sat down at a round-table event to discuss the who, what, when, where, and how of bringing healthy foods into northwest Kansas. This event was put on by the Western Prairie Food, Farm & Community Alliance (WPFCA/"Alliance"), an organization that, according to their literature, has been established as "the food system advisory council for eight counties in northwest Kansas." The Alliance is the result of a collaboration between the Thomas County Coalition (TCC) and Cheyenne/Rawlins Healthy Communities Initiative Coalition (CN/RA HCI). Sheridan County's Alliance Team, at the time of the Roundtable Event consisted of Emily Campbell, Allison Nondorf, Carol Farber, Josh Moss, and Lori Cressler. There are a couple of vacancies, so new members are being recruited.

Their literature goes on to explain that County commissions from Cheyenne, Decatur, Logan, Rawlins, Sheridan, Sherman, Thomas, and Wallace Counties passed resolutions to support the Alliance, and each commission appointed a member to represent their county. Each county then was responsible for establishing a County Food Advisory Committee (CFAC) to appoint a representative to the Alliance itself.

The mission of the Alliance is to provide advice to public officials, private sector partners, and food producers to bring a balance to the demand for healthy, affordable, and locally-grown foods through market development, with an increase in options for locating and purchasing them, both for the vendor and the consumer.

The Alliance, at the invitation of the Sunflower Foundation, applied for a H.E.R.O. (Healthy Eating: Rural Opportunities) planning grant, with the goal of increasing access to healthy food to the northwest Kansas area. Over the next eight months there are two main goals to be accomplished: 1) training for the Alliance and the County Food Advisory Committee members, and 2) regional food assessments. They are currently working on the latter.

It is the regional food assessments which are the focus of the World Café Round Table events being conducted in each of the eight counties. The purpose of these round-tables is to gather data that pertains to the northwest Kansas food landscape (and specific to each county), identify the gaps and challenges evident in each regarding the access to and the consumption of healthy, affordable, local foods. This data will be compiled into a report on the northwest Kansas food system, that will then be combined with existing secondary source data to inform the Alliance and CFACs of a very specific and strategic plan for these eight counties in northwest Kansas.

To begin the evening, Emily Campbell and Allison Nondorf, the Sheridan County Alliance Representatives, gave an introduction of the team, and explained how the round-table would be conducted.

After the meal of mostly locally sourced ingredients, we would then begin our discussions. The meal was a choice of meat lasagna or vegetarian lasagna, with a side of locally grown asparagus that was almost a half inch thick! The spinach salads were very good, one with pickled radish slices and the other, a sorghum salad with raspberries and a very mild dressing. Homemade bread sticks with Italian seasoning and homemade focaccia bread were also served. For dessert, rhubarb crisp with a homemade ice cream made from local farm-raised duck eggs, which gave it a very rich and creamy texture. The meal was excellent!

For the roundtable portion of the evening, there were four tables, each of which had a facilitator who would ask the question to be discussed at that particular table. Ideas and thoughts were discussed for twenty minutes before shifting to the next table. Theoretically, when we all shifted tables we would not be with the same group of people again. While it didn't quite work that way, it didn't seem to hinder the discussions - or findings, in the least.

The questions presented,

one per table, were:

- 1) What are healthy foods?
- 2) What are the barriers to healthy foods?
- 3) What is the most important factor when people make food decisions?
- 4) What one change would improve the food system?

Each of us had our own views regarding the answers to these questions much of which, while differing, also held threads of similarity. But the largest common denominator in all the answers was that the basis of each relied exclusively on EDUCATION.

*How do you know what are healthy foods? - Education. For

Rod Run Fun!

By Viktorija Briggs
Saturday was the 11th Annual Lion's Club Rod Run, and as in previous years, it was a great success. The day was bright, hot, and beautiful. Perfect for the Show & Shine Car Show that had Sheridan Avenue lined up for blocks with some very sharp looking old cars, tractors, pickups, and three semis - something new for the entries.

In the evening, the drag races started off during some heavy winds, which settled down a bit for a while, but picked up again, dropping the temperature fifteen degrees in a matter of minutes. Big drops of cold rain began and everyone started to bail for their cars. While the races were going it was quite exciting! Several of the cars seemed unstoppable, and a couple seemed to always have trouble getting going. The cream-colored VW Bug was a hard one to beat.

Just before the rains crept in, Mike Weimer emceed the auctioning of several really great items. Two quilts were first to be auctioned, they brought in $530 and $375 respectively. A light bar went for $170. The funds received for these auctions would be used to help the community.

The raffle prizes included a shotgun, a TV, a tailgate grill, and a ladies gift package.

It was a very fun day, and will hopefully be as good weather-wise next year as well.

Thank you to the Hoxie Lion's Club for putting on such a great event!

Tips on Shopping at Farmers Markets: Get More Fresh Produce in Your Diet

Shopping at farmers markets is one way to get delicious and fresh produce you can enjoy at home.

"Getting plenty of fruits and vegetables helps families live healthier lives and reduces the likelihood of chronic disease," said Elaine Auld, CEO of the Society for Public Health Education (SOPHE). "Lack of nutritious foods puts people at high risk for diabetes, cardiovascular disease, and obesity."

Not everyone may be familiar with shopping at farmers markets. Auld offered the following tips to help people make the most of bringing the best of the farm to their family.

Know the season. Knowing what you may find at the market, before you go, can help you shop efficiently and cost-effectively. Specific fruits and vegetables available in your community will vary based on the seasons and weather.

Plan your meals but leave room for spontaneous purchases. Plan your meals in advance but, leave some room to improvise or adapt recipes. Farmers markets can expose you to new hybrids of traditional vegetables, such as broccolini, which is a combination of broccoli and kale. Talk to the vendors and ask them how to prepare something that you may have never tried before.

Shop to save. To save money, buy in bulk or late in the day. Vendors may be more willing to make you a deal. Sometimes bulk purchases are discounted. Some vegetables can be frozen for later use. Many farmers markets also accept electronic benefit transfer (EBT) or Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) purchases.

Bring your own bags. Nylon or cloth bags can help ensure your purchase makes it home safely. A backpack can help if you have a long distance to travel.

Get used to handling fresh produce. Always wash all fruits and vegetables before eating. It may take time to learn how to handle freshly harvested produce, but the superior flavors are worth it. Ask how to best store your purchases to maximize freshness and flavor.

To help promote healthy eating, SOPHE partnered in a three-year national project, Partnering4Health. There are Partnering4Health projects in 97 communities across the country assisting people and communities to live healthier.

A third of the projects are supported through the National WIC Association (NWA). The American Heart Association, the American Planning Association, and the Directors of Health Promotion & Education, are also involved.

USDA provides federal grants to states for WIC. These programs provide breastfeeding support, supplemental foods, health care referrals, and nutrition education for low-income pregnant and postpartum women, and to infants and children up to age five who are at nutritional risk. Here are a few examples of WIC programs that are working in their communities to help women and families access nutritious food.

The area WIC program in Durango, Colorado, was able to work with community partners to offer a free farmers stand in low-income communities offering fruits and vegetables. They've served 500 people and given away an estimated 3,000 pounds of food.

JENNINGS NEWS

By Louise Cressler

Last week the Jennings City Library had some wonderful Japanese pictures, toys, clothes, decorations and a wonderful Japanese grandmother explaining memories of her childhood. Kou Lovin of Hoxie shared stories she wrote for her mother and grandchildren, favorite experiences that sometimes compared ways of doing ordinary things in different cultures. She explained the steps she's taken to published and illustrated each story. She even translated the English back into Japanese and has copies with both languages. It was a really delightful presentation

Abe, Quindley, Vincent and Isadore Taylor built amazingly fun things from paper tubes of all sizes, watched a Bob the Builder video and listened while Kelli King of Goodland shared a story during her Smokey Hill PBS program. They left the Library with books of their own. We appreciate the time and effort Kelli gives to this summer activity for kids all over Northwest Kansas.

All those books that have been added to the Library this spring need new places to sit. The Jennings City Library is looking for used shelving-tall, short, wide, narrow, we'd like to take a look. Please, give Nikki a call if you have something.

Recent visitors of Wayne and Louise included: Jessica Lemmons, Josie and Daniel of Manhattan. Gabe was at church camp in Scott City; Gwen Anderson, Goodland; Russell and Mary Cressler, rural Jennings. Marge Hartzog stopped in to pick up food I prepared for the Father's Day dinner and stayed to visit with Wayne a short while.

Those enjoying the noon meal at the Sunflower Senior Center on Wednesday included: Larry Johnson, Ramona Shaw, Allan Carter, Rachel Carter, Eugene and Dona Mrstik and Louise Cressler.

Reminder: Benefit supper for Wanda Farr Saturday evening at the senior center. There is also a bake sale if you would like to donate.

A Very Educational World Café Round-Table Evening

* What are the barriers to healthy foods? - Education. Whole, clean, organic (if that's your preference) foods tend to be a bit more expensive, thus buying boxed, processed foods is easier, thus convenient. Through education it is possible to show how, in the long run, it's far more expensive to consume the pre-cooked foods: health & health costs, excess garbage & trash waste, no true family time at the family dinner table.

* What is the most important factor when people make food decisions? Education. What they know, or think they know is what governs their buying decisions. Cost is always a factor, and how far those meals will go; one meal, two, more? Convenience is a huge factor. It's believed to be easier to pull out that box of mac & cheese than to make it from scratch with a side salad of local veggies and a glass of milk from a local dairy. Maybe it is, but what does that teach your children?

* What one change would improve the food system? Education. Knowledge of who grows your food, raises the beef, pork, poultry & veal that you buy and eat each day. Knowledge of what is involved in getting all of that food to your table. Those who have never gardened have no idea how much work actually goes into it! And, how about where it is raised/grown? You won't know if you buy exclusively from a grocery store. What about your local farmers' markets? Many local grocers are now selling locally grown produce. If yours does not, request that they begin looking for more local sources. Yes, much of it is seasonal, but there are those who also have greenhouses that grow year-round.

It is time to UN-teach, and to begin to RE-educate.

According to the University of Michigan Extension, having the option to purchase locally grown food has many benefits for you and your community. Without any of us at the roundtable event having ever read the following before, the points made below are almost identical to the ones made in our roundtable discussions:

- Locally grown food is full of flavor. When grown locally, the crops are picked at their peak of ripeness versus being harvested early in order to be shipped and distributed to your local retail store. Many times produce at local markets has been picked within 24 hours of your purchase. (The vast difference in the flavor of these vegetables compared to a locally homegrown, truly fresh vegetable is incredible, and one that those in cities usually never experience or realize.)

- Eating local food is eating seasonally. Even though we wish strawberries (for example) were grown year-round, the best time to eat them is when they can be purchased directly from a local grower. They are full of flavor and taste better than the ones available in the winter that have traveled thousands of miles and picked before they were ripe.

- Local food has more nutrients. Local food has a shorter time between harvest and your table, and it is less likely that the nutrient value has decreased. Food imported from far-away states and countries is often older, has traveled and sits in distribution centers before it gets to your store. (As well as having been treated chemically to help it ripen slower and preserve its freshness. Also, while not a proven fact, it is believed by many that locally grown foods, harvested honey, and raised meats, are not just healthier for you, but more beneficial in the sense that they are literally a part of your environment. They are exposed and contribute to the air we breathe. The soil they grow in or eat becomes a part of them and ultimately a part of us when we eat them. They are nourished by the same rainwater that we are, which falls through the same air we breathe; and so many more factors that we don't realize or just take advantage of.)

- Local food supports the local economy. The money that is spent with local farmers and growers all stays close to home and is reinvested with businesses and services in your community. (Buying local keeps the money flowing in and around the community supporting local farms and businesses, and the families who run them.)

- Local food benefits

After dumping a whole box of cereal on the floor, Dennis the Menace tells his little friend, "You're right, they don't put prizes in these anymore."

One afternoon, a well-dressed lady stopped at the gates of a mental institution.

"I wonder," she asked, "if you could tell me who's responsible for this magnificent garden? I'd like to hire the gardener."

"I am," said the patient. "I've been cured a very long time," he pointed out, "but no one from the outside will give me a job, so they keep me here."

"That's foolish," said the lady, "You're no more unbalanced than I am. I'm going to talk to the doctor in

Just as she reached her car, she felt a violent blow to her head as someone hit her with a stone. Turning around, half stunned, she saw the gardener smiling at her.

"Now, you won't forget," he called, "will you?"

More About Omelets

The white of the eggs, if beaten until dry, will make a less tender omelet than one in which the eggs are beaten until light then carefully mixed with the yolks. Adding a tablespoonful of water (cold) for each egg is also an improvement as to texture over milk. A most delicious omelet may be made using blanched almonds in the omelet pan and cooking them until brown before the omelet is turned. Serve with hot maple sirup.

Spinach Omelet

Put half a cupful of cooked spinach in an omelet pan with a tablespoonful of butter, when thoroughly hot pour in a three-eggs omelet, season and cook as usual. Peach juice may be substituted for water and peaches served in and around the omelet. Serve with hot peach sauce.

Orange Omelet

Beat the yolks of three eggs with three tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind of an orange, with three tablespoonfuls of the juice. Add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and pour into a hot buttered pan. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and when well cooked on the bottom set in the oven to cook on top.

Mushroom Omelet

Fry a few thinly sliced mushrooms in butter and spread them over a plain omelet just before folding it. Serve a few mushrooms finely chopped and cooked in butter in a white sauce to accompany the omelet.

Asparagus Omelet

Break three eggs in a bowl, add a little white pepper and salt and beat them slightly, add two tablespoonfuls of cream, thick and sweet, and pour the mixture into a frying pan containing hot butter. With a spatula, rapidly stir the egg from all parts of the pan, letting the uncooked portion run down to be cooked in its turn. As soon as the mass begins to set it is ready to fold. Have a few spoonfuls of tender tips of asparagus cooked and hot, well seasoned with butter and salt. Spread this over the omelet, fold and serve at once.

Any vegetable or fruit may be served with an omelet, choosing the kind most enjoyed.

From The Golden Belt,
Grinnell, KS
June 19, 1886

J. F. Rigg is having some breaking done on his claims, two miles southeast of the city. Our highly esteemed friend, Mr. Samuel Till, the Hackberry Nasby, was in the metropolis Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Pangle, Kansas City, Mo., daughter of Lewis Everson, visited her father and brother John this week.

G. W. Vanmarter returned on Tuesday last from WaKeeney, whither he had been for several days attending court.

The Great Western Circus will hoist their tents on the vacant land north of Kent's. One week from Monday next is the date.

T. Kunce drove into town from Grainfield in Thursday's shower, with a big load of lumber - 1900 feet - for Bornt's new building.

On Monday evening of this week, a ball was given and was quite well attended. Good music was here from WaKeeney, and an enjoyable time was had.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church, at Grainfield, will serve refreshments afternoon and evening of July 5th, (the day they celebrate) for the benefit of the church at that place. Further arrangements will be published later.

The strawberry and ice cream festival that was advertised for last Saturday evening, was a complete failure. Every preparation had been made for an enjoyable time, but the rain falling in torrents from early evening till late, made it impossible for any one to attend.

Fellows, the Oakley wife-murderer, was sentenced Tuesday last by Judge Osborne, to be taken to the penitentiary, and there to be confined to hard labor till the Governor shall appoint a day, and that then he shall be taken to a place prepared for his execution, and there to be hanged by the neck until he is dead.

W. L. Humes, of the Hoxie Sentinel force, and Charles Adolph, of the Democrat force, was "blowed" down from the north last Saturday, with the storm. They struck the Arlington House and stayed till Sunday evening. We treated them to a boat ride through our streets. Come again, boys, and we will irrigate - our streets.

G. B. Smith, hack driver from WaKeeney to Millbrook, Graham county, on Wednesday of last week, went to the express office, as had been his habit, to get the express packages. One directed to Graham County Bank was handed him. He must have forgotten the road home, for he nor the package, which, by the way, contained $2,000 cash, have not as yet been seen nor heard from.

The meeting for organization at Gove City, on Monday last, was quite well attended. Grinnell was represented by Bruce Sanders, organizer, and Judge Kinley, John K. Boswell, J. F. Rigg and "our devil," anti-organizers. Buffalo Park was represented in about like manner. Grainfield's representation was unanimous for, as was Gove City. There not being a sufficient number of signatures to the petition to the Governor to send in, an executive committee was appointed to secure sufficient number of names and send to the Governor. Rev. Wellor made a grand (?) and flowing (?) speech. The meeting adjourned "sine die."

Leave your bundles at the palace barber shop in time to send away on the 1st and 3rd Mondays of each month.

The social at the school house Monday night was well attended and every one enjoyed themselves. On account of the absence of some parties the program was short, but what there was of it was good. Miss Ora McClellan's essay was splendid. Everything went off lovely and was a success financially.

Three girls out of the hundred there, were chosen. The decisions were close, those in charge reported and among those who were runners-up, and so have honorable mention, were Evelyn Burkepile, Mary Summerson, Marion Launchbaugh and Betty Alice Cooper. One of the big features to the Hoxie girls was the trip there, all in a bus, so that they could talk and sing together. Hikes, talks, handicraft and evening campfires kept all busy. On Saturday they paraded in Scott City, had a picnic supper and give an Indian pageant at the park.

News from the Outside

By John Liester

Another week is passed. The fishing is still good, in fact the catfish are getting better! Did very well Saturday night at the local lake. Weather was awesome and had a great light show from the storms in the area. Sunday at Webster saw one sunfish caught, but still great to get outside.

Are you hunters getting the itch yet? I've been seeing some pretty good bucks around the area, including a couple branching out well past the ears. Ducklings and goslings are everywhere now. As long as the water remains they should do well.

I haven't seen as many pheasants as I was earlier, but they're around. Heard lots of Bobwhite quail yesterday!

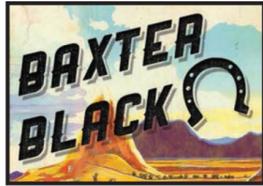

And have been seeing prairie chickens here and there.

Still waiting on the catfish spawn. Should start any day now.

I was impressed the last few trips fishing. No loud parties or drunken fishermen to deal with. Quiet and relaxing. Love trips like that!

Not much else to report. I do suggest getting your park permit when you get your vehicle tags. Cheaper and less hassles.

Be safe folks and enjoy the outdoors.

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE Handyman Jacks

By Baxter Black, DVM

People develop a morbid relationship with the most unlikely things. "Git rid of that horse, Newt! It's bound to kill ya someday!" But Newt keeps saddlin' up the widow maker.

"Don't be eatin' those chilis, Newt! Ya know they'll keep you up all night!" But Newt eats 'em and spends the night on the john.

"Dadgummit, Newt! I know that was yer Daddy's pocket knife, but enough's enough!" But Newt's still cuttin' calves with a half-inch blade.

I've spent half my life cursing Handyman Jacks. I've turned the air blue coaxing them to cooperate. I can attest that it is impossible to injure one with anything short of an acetylene torch. I know they will work the first day, but the instant they are exposed to the smell of burnt rubber or the hint of desperation, they sulk up.

Oh, they work sometimes, just to keep you off guard. Like the time I was cruising a country road east of Malta and I felt a thunk. I saw my rear wheel pass me on the left, bounce through the ditch and disappear into a field of waist high wheat! It didn't take long for the truck to stop. For a hundred yards behind my rig it looked like I'd been installing telephone cable!

Stuck out there, I improvised with a long fence pole I found near an irrigation pump. I jacked it up with the Handyman Chin Smasher and Slim Mechanism. Up one, down two, up one, down one, and so on. From the rear, I wedged the pole over the axle and chained it tight. The pole stuck out several feet behind the bumper. Then I lowered the truck down by pounding the jack with a calf puller until the bumper rested on the protruding pole. I waited until a lone irrigator passed by and had him drag me ten miles back to the farm shop. I limped in like a one leg-ged cross country skier!

Two years later the jack showed its true colors. I was comin' south outta Grouse Creek in a brand new 3/4-ton vet truck. The high mountain road was snow packed and I was testing my traction. I missed a turn and slid off a ditch, high centered. 'No sweat,' I thought, 'I'll just jack it up and pile some wood underneath the tire.' Once again, I engaged the Combination Handyman Post Puller and Fickle Finger Mangler.

I jacked that baby up 'til the pickup was clear, packed everything I could find under the tire and flipped the lever that lowered the jack. With each pump of the handle, the pickup rose instead of fell! I alternated pumping and whacking the jack with the star wrench. Finally, I got clear to the top of the jack!

My bran- new pickup had its left hind cocked up like a dog markin' his territory. It took an hour on the lonely road for a meandering hay truck to rumble by. It was equipped with snow chains. They backed up to me and, with a screech and a whomp, pulled me off the jack.

I drove that pickup for three years with a bent frame and a driver's side door that never closed properly.

But I'm still carryin' the miserable rat bag of a jack around in the back of my latest truck. Me and Newt, knowin' better but stupidly hoping it'll work just one more time.

Federal Disaster Declaration Approved for Severe Winter Storm Damage

President Donald Trump has granted Gov. Sam Brownback's request for a federal disaster declaration for 27 Kansas counties affected by a severe winter storm, snowstorm, straight-line winds and flooding that struck the state April 28-May 3. Brownback submitted his request through the Federal Emergency Management Agency May 31.

Counties named in the declaration are Cherokee, Cheyenne, Crawford, Decatur, Finney, Gove, Graham, Grant, Greeley, Hamilton, Haskell, Kearny, Lane, Logan, Morton, Neosho, Norton, Rawlins, Scott, Seward, Sheridan, Sherman, Stanton, Stevens, Thomas, Wallace, and Wichita. Additional designations may be made at a later date if requested by the state and warranted by the results of further damage assessments.

The declaration allows county governments to apply for Public Assistance funds for emergency work and the repair or replacement of disaster-damaged facilities. It also activates the Hazard Mitigation Grant Program statewide for actions taken to prevent or reduce long term risk to life and property from natural hazards.

World Café Round-Table

the environment. By purchasing locally grown foods you help maintain farmland and green and/or open space in your community. (We have an abundance of this here, but consider the majority of places that do not.)

• Local foods promote a safer food supply. The more steps there are between you and your food's source the more chances there are for contamination. Food grown in distant locations has the potential for food safety issues at harvesting, washing, shipping and distribution. (The closer it is to being from farm-to-table, the healthier it is for you!)

• Local growers can tell you how the food was grown. You can ask what practices they use to raise and harvest the crops. When you know where your food comes from and who grew it, you know a lot more about that food. (Is it organic (if that's your preference)? Was it harvested/gathered this morning or several days ago? Was it grown in a greenhouse/hoop house, aquaponically, or in the ground? Any question you may have, your farmer will have the answer. If it's not locally sourced, then you will never know the answers to any of your questions.)

Local Sourcing: Farmers' Markets

The USDA blog post "Farmers Markets as Community Centerpieces" states:

"Farmers markets have become a critical ingredient to our nation's economy, food systems, and communities. Connecting rural to urban, farmer to consumer, and fresh ingredients to our diets, farmers markets are becoming economic and community centerpieces in cities and towns across the U.S."

(Source: blogs.usda.gov/2013/08/05/farmers-markets-as-community-centerpieces)

The population is finally beginning to realize that many of their health problems are indeed a result of their diet, and are looking for ways to combat and correct it.

Following is one example, and then concepts being implemented to educate the populace on other ways to grow their food.

Since the introduction of homogenized milk on the populace, heart disease has skyrocketed exponentially. The homogenization process was introduced in 1932. It is a process that breaks down the milk fat into very small globules, which keeps the fat from separating, and to extend the milk's shelf life.

Milk fat contains Xanthine Oxidase (XO). While this is not normally a problem for the body, homogenization makes it a problem. Homogenization causes some of the XO to pass through the intestinal walls and into the circulatory system where it then begins to attach specific targets in the artery walls, as well as heart tissue, which then causes lesions. The body then attempts to do what it's supposed to - heal the damaged areas. This "band-aid" comes in the form of fatty tissue and cholesterol, which then build up and eventually cause an obstruction.

The assumption is that the culprit is the cholesterol, which it is, but not like you would think. Cholesterol is very important physiologically; we actually produce it naturally in our bodies. But it did not become a problem until milk was homogenized. This holds true in every country around the world that began homogenizing their milk. And exercise will not help the problem.

So basically, fresh, raw, and pasteurized milk is healthy, but milk that has gone through the homogenization process is not.

(Sources: Vena McGrath (12/2004) "Homogenized Milk - It's Your Choice"; Dr. Kurt A. Oster, MD, former Chief of Cardiology, Emeritus at Bridgeport, Connecticut's City Park Hospital; Dr. R. Lincoln & Dr. Donald Ross, and others)

Mark Simmonds, founder of the REconomy Project (reconomy.org), and co-founder of Co-Op Culture (culture.coop) was introduced to the term "Do-ocracy." In his e-book, "Do-ocracy Handbook: REconomy 2016" he defines it as "where the people who got involved, and got their hands dirty, were the people who owned and controlled the organization." Rather like the children's story of the Little Red Hen; you do the work, you deserve the rewards of your labors, but if you're only waiting for the reward, then it will be a long time coming!

Another concept is that of the Co-op Culture, "Localizing the economy through sustainable co-operative enterprise." According to the description on their website, "Co-op Culture is a co-operative consortium of co-operative and community advisors, entrepreneurs and enterprises. Members and associates have a vast and varied experience of supporting co-operative, community and social enterprise to start and grow." (Sounds very much like the WPFCA!)

Greenhouses have been around for centuries. If you don't have the space for a large one, you'd be surprised how much you can grow in a simple setup, even in your home.

Container gardening

also makes it easy to grow vegetables for your family.

Hydroponics is the method of growing plants using mineral nutrient solutions in water, without soil. It is a very fascinating process.

Aquaponics is similar to hydroponics, except that the system combines conventional aquaculture (raising aquatic animals, usually fish, but also snails, crayfish or prawns in tanks) with hydroponics (cultivating plants in water) in a symbiotic environment. The fish's water is filtered and feeds the roots of the plants growing in the various types of tanks, which in turn returns, re-oxygenated, to the fishes' tank. It is a very efficient method of providing fish and vegetables to your own table or to sell to restaurants or stores.

tables is a challenge in Angelina County in East Texas. Organizers with WIC set up a network to distribute fresh produce to three area food banks serving 16,000 people.

In Marion, Virginia, WIC organizers working with the H.A.N.D.S. Healthy Corner Store initiative increased availability of fresh produce and healthy snack options in rural convenience stores. They also worked with farmers market managers to increase awareness of fresh, locally grown produce.

Kansas Milk Production

Milk production in Kansas during May 2017 totaled 297 million pounds, up 4 percent from May 2016, according to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service. The average number of milk cows was 152,000 head, 7,000 head more than May 2016. Milk production per cow averaged 1,955 pounds.

Export Report

Sorghum exports picked up this week with China and Mexico committing to purchase 2.4 million bushels. China committed to purchase 2.1 million bushels, signaling a continued strong demand by China for U.S. sorghum. Total commitments for the year are up to 172 million bushels, bringing the amount of sorghum committed to international destinations to 79 percent of the USDA export target. Export pace in 2017 remains ahead of the 5-year average pace and on track with last year's average pace of the USDA target. Prices on the Gulf Coast were stable for July delivery at 114 percent corn prices or $4.64. New crop interior bids for the first time this year showed signs of strength with sorghum increasing to near parity with corn in parts of central Kansas and above corn in parts of central South Dakota.

Public Notice Farming County Roads Prohibited

Farming of county road right-of-way is increasing road maintenance costs and adversely affecting traffic safety. Cultivation reduces the capacity of the ditch and results in poorer drainage and weak subgrade during wet weather. Growing crops restrict sight lines at intersections and driveways which can contribute to traffic accidents.

The Sheridan County Commission requests that farmers help maintain good road drainage and safe roads by refraining from cultivating on road right-of-way. If unsure of the right-of-way line, just stay back from the existing ditch. If no ditch is present, stay back from the edge of the road a distance of 10 feet on minor roads and 15 feet on major roads. Landowners can also check road widths by calling the road and bridge office. The Sheridan County Commission also asks that farmers consider staying back further at intersections so you and your neighbors can have a better view down crossroads.

State law makes it unlawful to farm the right-of-way and willfully block ditches. We do have authority to recover the cost of restoring the right-of-way and may exercise that option where ditches have been farmed shut. Crops growing on the right-of-way are legally considered an obstruction and a nuisance. During our normal mowing operations, crops will be mowed just like normal vegetation.

A good grass cover in road ditches is needed to prevent erosion. Do not spray the right-of-way with roundup or other grass killing herbicides.

To promote safety on our rural county roads, residents are asked to report bad sight distance at intersections and other safety issues. Just call the Road Department at 785-675-3621 and leave a message if there is no answer.

Low Interest Emergency Physical Loss Loans Available

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) Acting Administrator Chris Beyerhelm today announced that physical loss loans are available for 12 counties in Kansas. Farm operators who have suffered major physical losses caused by blizzard, excessive snow, freeze and high winds that occurred between April 28 and May 1, 2017 may be eligible for emergency loans.

This Administrator's Physical Loss Notification has been issued for Finney, Gove, Hamilton, Haskell, Kearny, Lane, Logan, Morton, Scott, Stanton, Stevens and Wichita counties as the primary damaged area. Additionally, 13 Kansas counties are contiguous to this designated disaster area, making these producers also potentially eligible for programs based on this designation. The contiguous counties are: Graham, Grant, Gray, Greeley, Hodgeman, Meade, Ness, Seward, Sheridan, Sherman, Thomas, Trego and

The following contiguous counties in surrounding states are also eligible for emergency loans:

Colorado: Baca and Prowers counties

Oklahoma: Cimarron and Texas counties

FSA's low interest emergency (EM) loans may be made available to any applicant with a qualifying loss in the counties named above. Approval is limited to applicants who suffered severe physical losses only. Physical loss loans may be made to eligible farmers and ranchers to repair or replace damaged or destroyed physical property essential to the success of the agriculture operation, including livestock losses. Examples of property commonly affected include essential farm buildings, fixtures to real estate, equipment, livestock, perennial crops, fruit and nut bearing trees, and harvested or stored crops and hay.

Producers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans for physical losses.

Crop Update

Seventy-one percent of the nation's sorghum was planted by week's end, 2 percentage points behind both last year and the 5-year average. Kansas producers planted 27 percent of their crop during the week. This brought planting in Kansas to 52 percent complete by week's end, 8 percentage points behind the 5-year average. Sixteen percent of the nation's sorghum was headed by June 11, two percentage points ahead of last year and 3 points ahead of the 5-year average. Overall, 67 percent of the sorghum was reported in good to excellent condition, 4 percentage points lower than at the same time last year.

Creatures of Our Seas!

Do you think a "new," giant creature will be found during your lifetime? If it is, how do you think it will look and live? There are so many fascinating creatures that live in our seas and oceans. Scientists today are diving to the deepest parts of the oceans to explore and photograph sea life that no humans have ever seen before.

Almost everything in the sea is food for something else. This is a giant...

In some parts of the world, people consider me (a puffer fish) a special and rare treat. But, my poisonous parts and spines keep almost everything else from eating me.

Can you read the clues and fill in the names of these 10 sea creatures? Oops...I did it again!

This Sea Creature...

1. is really a fish that grows up to six feet long; it can be a shocking experience to meet it (2 words)
2. "gallops" through warm waters; when tired, it can use its tail to cling to seaweed (2 words)
3. has an arm, arm, arm, arm, arm, arm, arm, arm; can squirt black ink to trick an enemy
4. comes in many sizes; a giant one can have eyes up to 15 inches wide, the largest in the world; it has eight arms with suction cups and two tentacles for catching dinner
5. uses its "double-edged sword" to slash through a school of fish for, or to fight
6. is a mammal; it is easy to spot when it "blows off steam"
7. is loved by sailors for its friendliness and intelligence
8. swallows water to blow up into a large ball; its sharp spines discourage other fish from trying to eat it (2 words)
9. has no bones, looks like umbrella; may have tentacles with poison in them to kill fish or harm enemies
10. usually has five arms; sometimes, if one is lost, it can grow back (2 words)
